ATD FOURTH WORLD TANZANIA
The First 2021 Newsletter

EDITORIAL

Dear ATD Fourth World friends,

We hope that you all are well, continuing with your daily social and economic struggles to ensure that we eradicate poverty.

We are happy to invite you to read our first newsletter for this 2021 year.

In this newsletter we will explain the effect of the corona pandemic in the poor communities around us and how we cooperated with these communities against the pandemic and the celebrations of October 17th. This year's theme was "Acting Together to achieve Social and Environmental Justice for All".

"If the government decides to prolong the lockdown the effect on children from poor families will be bad because they will forget all what they have learnt in school..." Halima from Tegeta, early March 2020.

Dear ATD Fourth World friends,

We hope that you all are well, continuing with your daily social and economic struggles to ensure that we eradicate poverty. We invite you to read our first newsletter of 2021. In it we will explain the effect of Covid-19 in communities in poverty around us and how we worked with these communities against the pandemic. Also we talk about our 17 October celebrations. The theme in 2020 was "Acting Together to achieve Social and Environmental Justice for All". Also we will tell you about two new volunteers to our team, Micol and Damien with their two children from Méry-sur-Oise, France and the farewell to Salma and Saleh who have moved to Njombe to continue with their duties in the struggle against poverty. Lastly, you will find pictures from our various events. These are events let us come together to continue the fight against poverty that is affecting our communities.

Hamisi. I. Matibu, an ATD Fourth World activist, Tanzania.
