

Activity:

What is a treasure and where will you keep it?

1. What is a treasure?

Share your thoughts with each other about what a treasure is. Is it only something material? Are there any people or ways of acting which can also be treasures? Why or why not?

2. Where will you keep it?

In Burkina Faso, it is the elder of the community; Mother Celestine, who collects the community's wealth. She is the guarantor of the stories and the ways in which people live together.

In Peru, there are the 'retablos'. Inside these boxes are the memories of the families, as well as the traditional festivals and customs of the country.

In your home, neighborhood, town or village, where do you safely store your treasures?

Decide together in your group, how your treasures will be kept: is it by a person or in a special place or box?

3. Set to work!

Once you have all agreed, set to work! Through craftwork, drawing or photography, show us how your treasures will be preserved. When you have finished, send a photo of your work to the Taporí Secretariat: taporí@taporí.org

Throughout the campaign, the treasures you will make in your group will be carefully kept by this person or in the special place or box. In each letter, we will discover the creations of other groups.

At the end of the campaign, all the treasures from around the world will be collected!
