

ACTIVITY

We suggest you think about racism around you, in the places you frequent, and in places you don't go to.

INDIVIDUALLY

Take the time to list all the places you do go to: school, your apartment building, your neighbourhood, the library, the supermarket, the cinema, etc. You can write down a list of the places, or you can draw them.

For each place, ask yourself if you've ever noticed racism towards yourself or towards someone else. Look back at what happened, and think how an act of racism or saying something racist could have been possible at that moment.

IN YOUR TAPORI GROUP

Then, in your Tapori group, each of you share your experiences of racism and where they took place.

Then think about a safe place you can go to get away from racism. Maybe this place already exists, and perhaps you go there regularly. Maybe it exists but it's not yet free of racist acts. If this place does not exist, what should it be like? What would be needed for racism not to exist in such a place?

Once you've reached an agreement, draw a picture of this place, including everything that would make it free of racism.
